

Music on a Summer Evening

Sunday 11th May: Edinburgh Renaissance Band Viol Rackett ... our best-loved programme of music and song from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance. The musicians show off a large range of period instruments. The concert is fronted by Musical Director Murray Campbell, whose lively presentation provides a show that is a truly joyous experience for all members of the family.

Saturday 17th May: Dalkeith & Monktonall Colliery Brass Band ...conducted by James Chamberlain play an evening of music for all ages and tastes.

Monday 26th May: Portobello High School and Sally Simpson Portobello High School's newly formed cello ensemble, will play music from Bach to 21st Century pop songs. The Spartle Ceilidh Band will play a mix of traditional music with their own individual twist. Sally Simpson, virtuoso violinist, formerly a member of Spartle, will delight us all with her mixture of traditional and contemporary music.

Saturday 31st May: Philomusica of Edinburgh present a programme of popular classics including Grieg's Holberg Suite, Bach's Concerto for two violins, and Copland's Quiet City, and featuring Scottish songs with soloist Carole Clarke.

Friday 6th June: The Honest Singers and Capital Ensemble The Honest Singers sing, a wide variety of songs, spiritual, African, traditional, and even pop, in harmony or "rounds".

All concerts at £5 (£20 for all five concerts).
Under 16s free.
